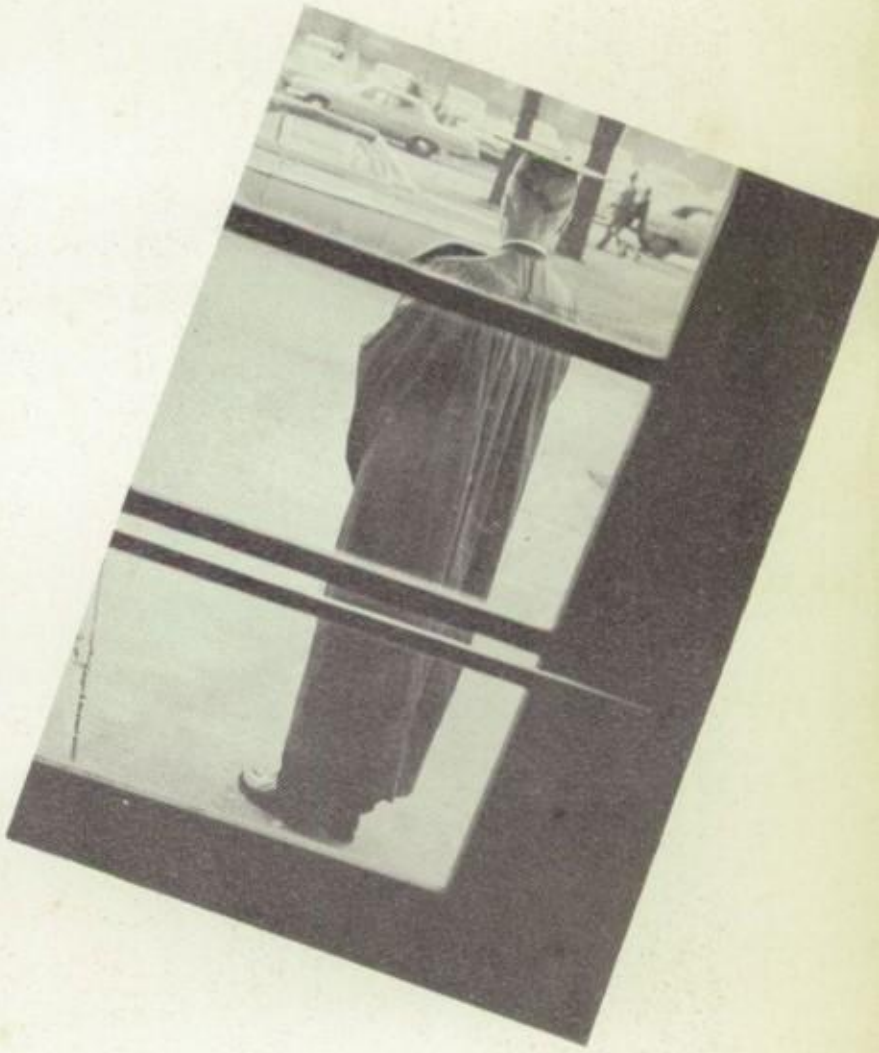
HAMMOND

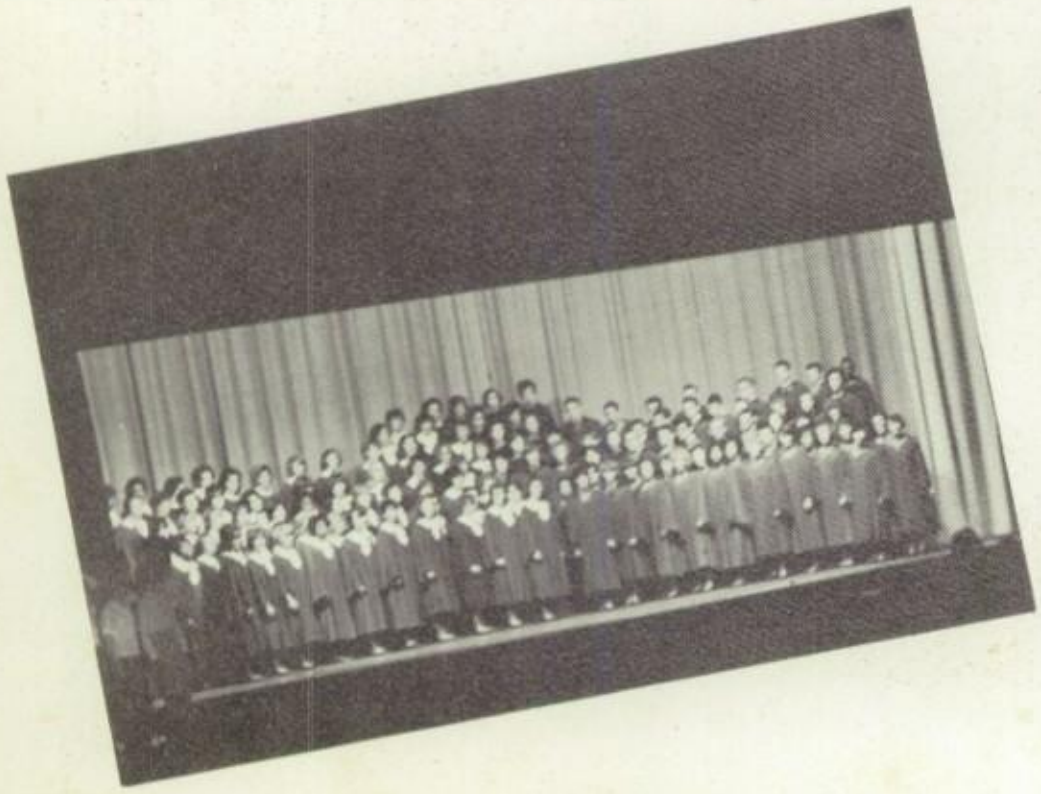
As one gazes into a pool and discovers an image of himself reflecting some characteristics shining brightly, so shall one look into this book and rediscover a reflection of Hammond High School, 1964, with its many cherished memories.

It is the reflection, not only of one complete year of school, but also of the traditions formed throughout the 78 year history of Hammond High School; traditions which influence administrators, teachers, athletic teams, scholars, clubs and students.

At times the reflection we see is not one which we would like to recall, but we do remember it because of its great impact on the complete picture. The assassination of President John Fitzgerald Kennedy had an overwhelming effect on the students of Hammond High School. Although the whole incident was one which we wish had never happened, we must include it in our Reflection if it is to be complete.

The story of the year is a panorama of the people and the activities of Hammond High School. As in looking into a pond and being fascinated at the reflection, one can look into this book and amaze at the highlights of our school: the Reflections of Hammond High School—1963-1964.





Story of the Year

Recalling all the memorable events of the year gone by, students enjoyed a well-rounded school term. The first reflection seen through our mirror is homecoming, and as we look deeper we find visions of other events such as the all school play, the Washington-New York trip, the Christman Vesper Services, and the newly clad band members performing in their concerts.

Unforgettable as always were the athletic events which began in the fall and continued through spring when the Association officers for the next year were elected.

All these things led to the last reflections in the mirror—the fantasy of "Moonlit Moments," the 1964 Junior-Senior Prom and finally the joy and sadness of graduation.

Homecoming

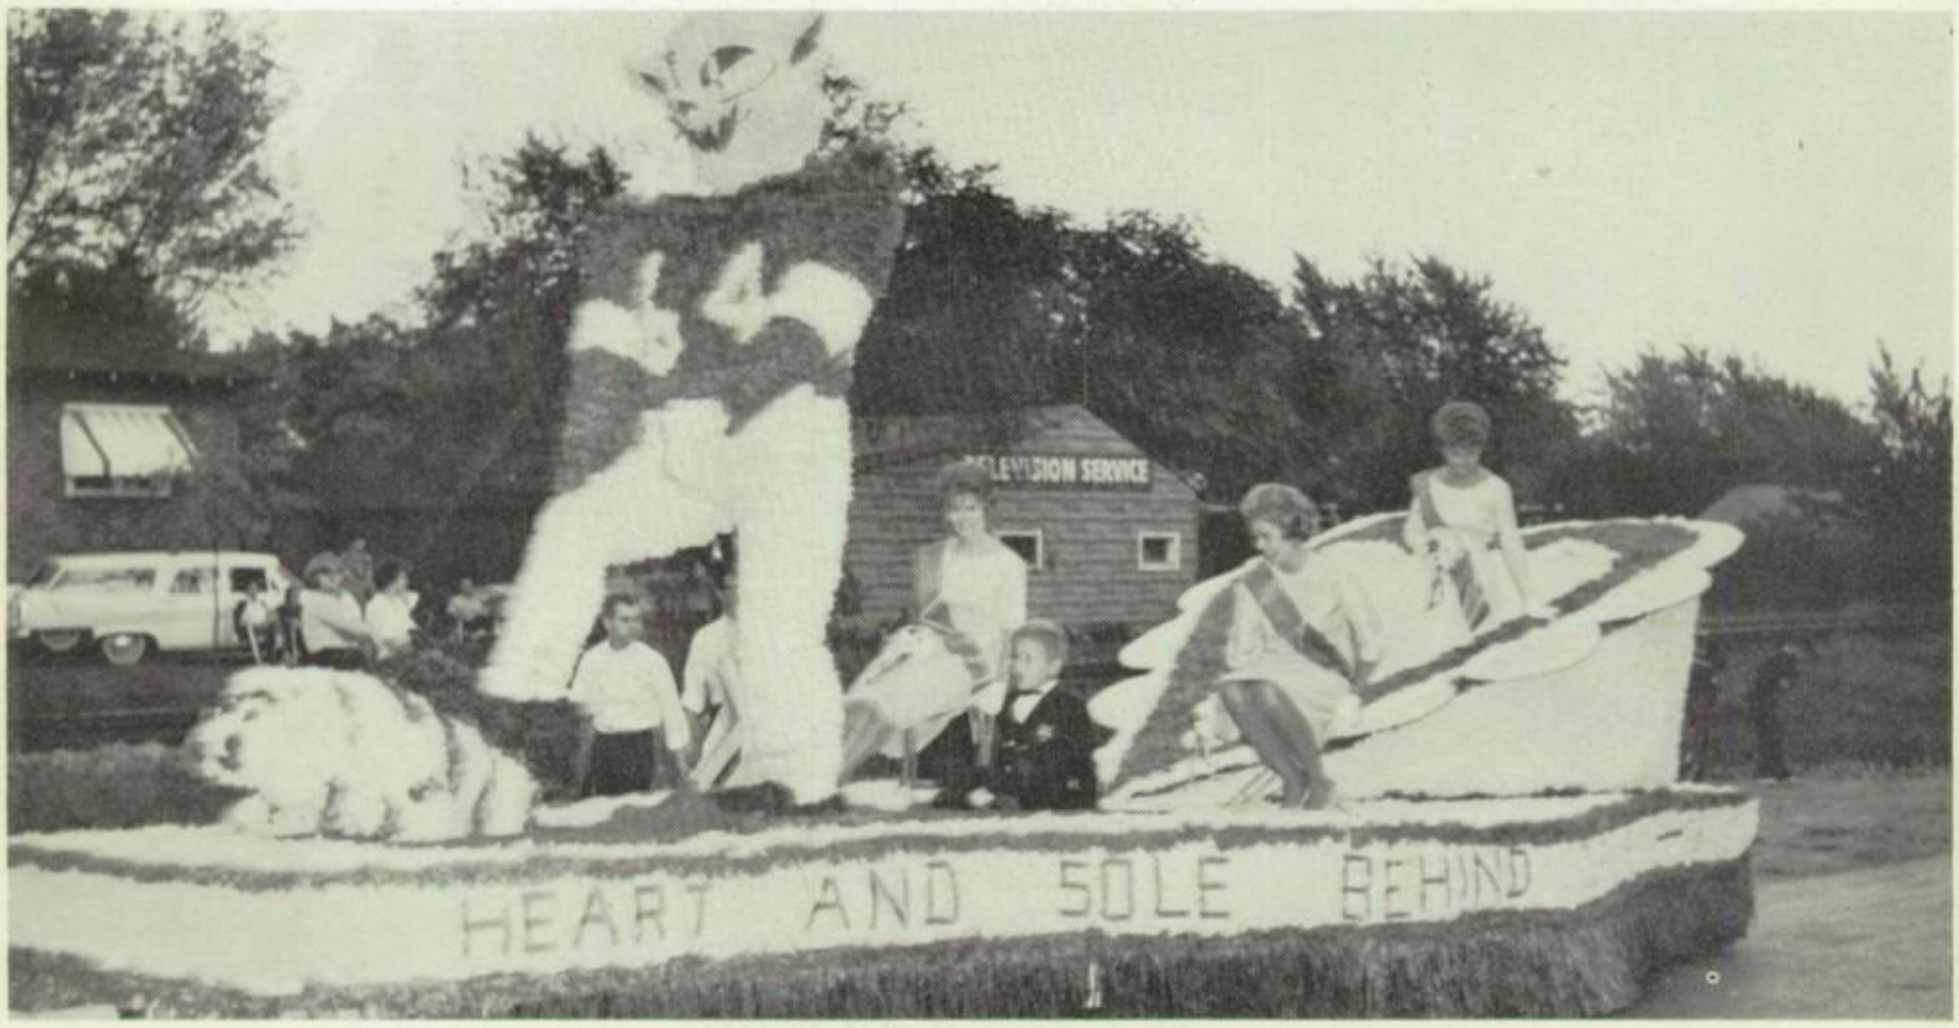
Here comes the Senior's winning float carring Queen candidates Bonnie Barkley, Jennifer Johnson and Pam Parrish.



As the fire blazed, the traditional festivities of Hammond High's Homecoming began. First a pep rally around the bonfire; then the announcement of the class Princesses and Homecoming Queen finalists were made. Chosen as Princesses were Julie Rosenthal, freshman; Linda Sherry, sophomore and Connie Wydra, junior. Bonnie Barkley, Jennifer Johnson, and Pam Parrish were Queen finalists.

Blasting horns from the car parade echoed throughout the streets of Hammond on that Friday night, September 20. The senior class float took top honors this year. At 7 sharp, the parade participants filled the bleachers and waited for the beginning of the game.

By half-time, everyone's attention was focused on the Queen candidates as they nervously awaited the news of their status. Association president Dave Brossart, along with Dr. Feuerbach, principal, took charge of the situation and Bonnie Barkley was crowned 1963 Homecoming Queen.

The Wildcats defeated Hammond Tech by an overhelming score of 20-2. This victory added to the spirit at the sock-hop at the Civic center after the game, gave a happy ending to a memorable homecoming.

Full of excitement, the watchful crowd waits with anticipation for the referee's decision.

The cheerleaders with the help of the band, added spirit and encouraged participation in the bonfire ceremonies.

With a "bonny" smile, Bonnie Barkley is crowned 1963 Homecoming Queen by David Brossart.

Mr. Carroll concentrates on a game of checkers while Tom Nau looks on with interest.

Pam Whitten listens with interest as Mr. McNabney and Dave Barton discuss the background of folk music.

After a busy day of touring Washington, this student takes a brief nap before moving on to more sights.

Dennis Bradley, Dave Brusch, and Larry Duvall finally found a lion that they could tame!

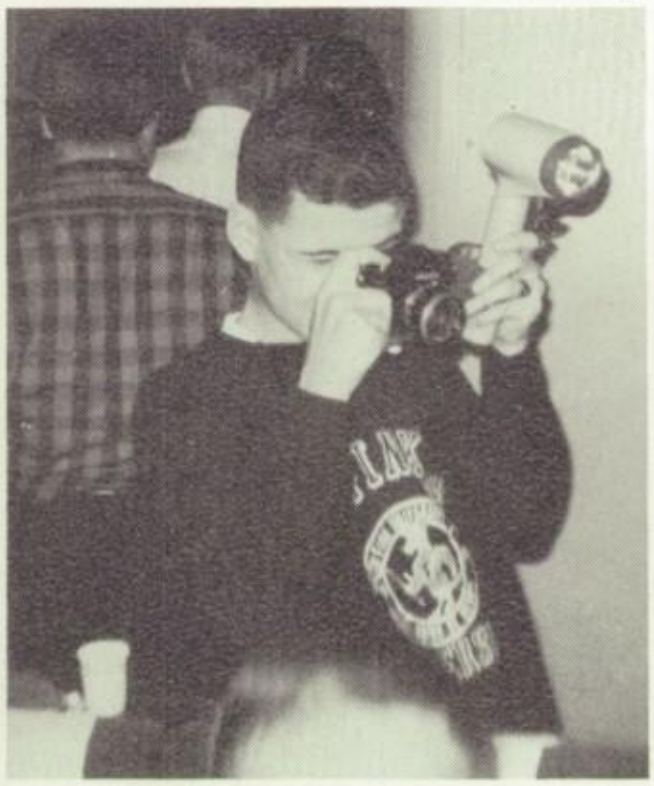
After experiencing the hustle and bustle of a big city and seeing the way our government is run, students returned home after an exciting week in New York City and Washington D.C.

Our juniors and seniors left the Erie railroad station Tuesday evening, October 22. The first stop was New York City. After checking in at the Picadilly Hotel the students were free until curfew time. In the morning they started on their tours which lasted three days and included a boat ride to the Statue of Liberty, a show at the Radio City Music Hall, a tour through the Empire State Building, a popular television station, China Town and the United Nations. The students concluded their stay in New York with a taste of night life at the International Cafe Restaurant, where they ate dinner and saw a floor show.

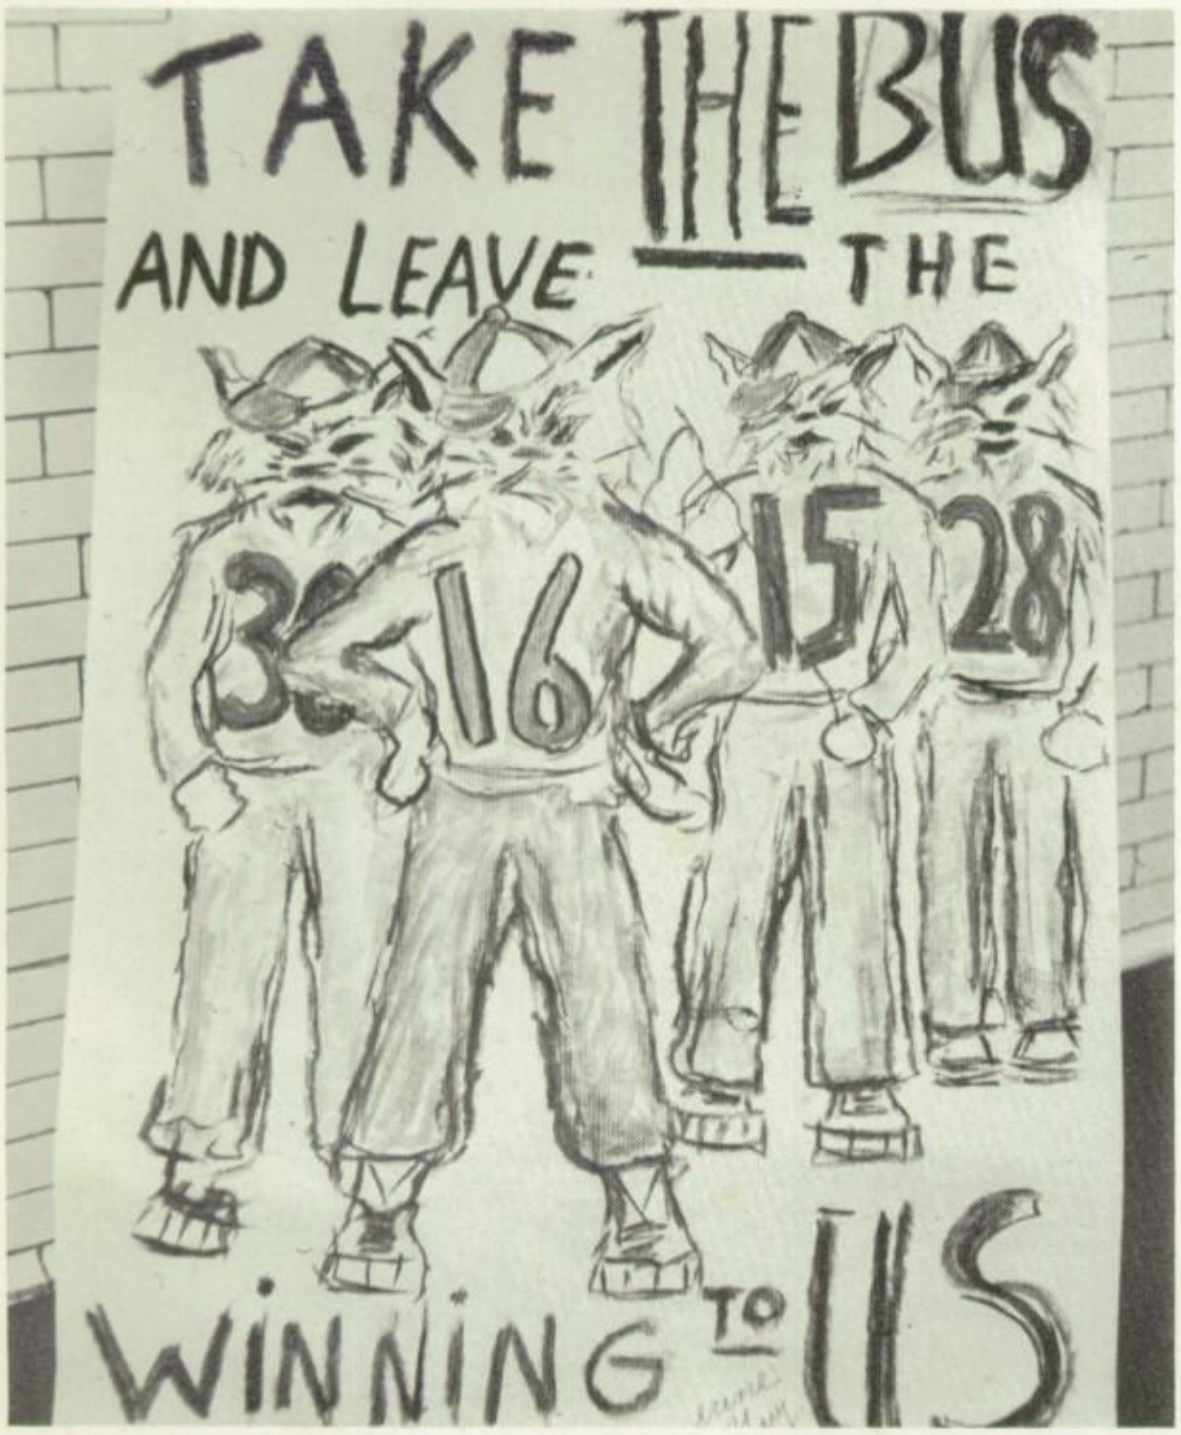
On they went to our nations capital, Washington D.C. The next two days were filled with tours of the Washington Monument, Lincoln Memorial, the White House, the Capital Building, the Smithsonian Institute, the Shrine of Immaculate Conseption, and Mount Vernon, home of George Washington.

"There will never be another Washington Trip like the one of 1963," were the few words uttered by the exhausted group of students that got off the train Monday afernoon.

Here we see the shining faces of our male chaperones: Mr. Carroll, Mr. McNabney, and Mr. Panton.



Turn around, George, and don't waste your film!



Posters like this one by Irene Guy, brightened the halls and helped to boost school spirit.

Students, accompanied by their parents attend the annual Quill and Scroll Banquet. After a delicious meal at a local restaurant, everyone awaited the announcement of the yearbook and newspaper staffs for next year.

The robots beg Alquist, the last remaining human in the world, to recreate the formula for robot reproduction. Pictured are Steve Baxter, T. Scott Garner, Roger Cowan, John Cantwell, Lance Mack, Dan Murrell, and Bruce Lynn.

The fall play, directed by Miss Oza Cunningham, assisted by Miss Alice Bollin in business management, was presented Friday, November 15, 1963, in the Hammond High School Auditorium.

The play, entitled "Rossum's Universal Robots," takes place on an island sometime in the future. The island is inhabited by millions of robots who are destined to do the work for humanity.

The President of the Humanitarian League protests the conditions of the robots, setting off a world wide revolt with the robots destroying all humanity until only Alquist, the simple builder, remains. The robots are then faced with the problem of saving humanity.

Turn Back the Clock

The Senior Play, "Turn Back the Clock" by Marrijane and Joseph Hayes, was presented in the school auditorium on Friday, April 10, under the direction of Miss Oza Cunningham.

The Play takes us back to 1928 to see the wild romances of our parents, goldfish swallowing, open-top cars and wild music of the day. The problems confronting them are basically the same as ours today. Although the method of courtship was different, the end results were still the same. Students had a chance to see how thir parents acted, and parents recalled their high school days.

Newly elected Association officers for the 1964-1965 term are Jeff Davidson, president; Cecil Campbell, vice-president; and Jan MacDonald, recorder. Their first unofficial duty was to help this past year's officers, Dave Brossart, Larry Dominick, and Sue Jonas, in the last minute planning of Association Week, held April 13-17. The general theme of the week was Careers.

Jan is seen here during the first auditorium session, March 25 presenting her speech to the student body before the actual voting began.

After months of hard work the Civic Center was transformed from a basketball court into a grand ballroom. "Moonlit Moments" was the theme of this year's Junior-Senior Prom. May 1, 1964 was the night that climaxed weeks of waiting and planning. Over 200 couples attended the gala event. The after prom party was held at the Woodmar Country Club; the theme "Starlite Starbrite." Over 100 couples danced and dined at the affair.

The Baccalaureate Service and Commencement exercises brought the Class of 1964 together in a body for the last time that year.

Administration

As our reflection moves on to our administration, it is almost impossible to express the gratitude which we should all feel for having such an accomplished and dedicated group of administrators. All of our teachers are sincere in their goal of instilling the desire for knowledge in each of their students. Be it English, math, social studies, business, or music, our teachers are those wonderfully rare kind who are willing to go out of their way for the student in need.

Yes, the reflection of the administration of Hammond High School shines very brightly in the hearts of every conscientious student in the Association.

Supervision

Dr. Joseph L. Hendrick, in his first year as superintendent of the Hammond Public Schools, has conducted affairs and responsibilities that have benefited the school system. Working under Dr. Hendrick as assistant superintendents are Mr. M. H. Thorsen and Dr. Oliver L. Rapp.

Always wearing a winning smile and having a cheerful greeting for everyone, Dr. F. Kenneth Feuerbach, the principal of Hammond High School, busies himself daily with office conferences, representation at school conventions, and performance of civic duties.

The board of the Hammond Public Schools consists of five members elected on a bi-partisan basis. They are Mrs. Margaret J. Allen, Mr. Leo Bereolos, Dr. Henry W. Eggers, Mr. Charles N. Scott and Mrs. Claire D. Stern.

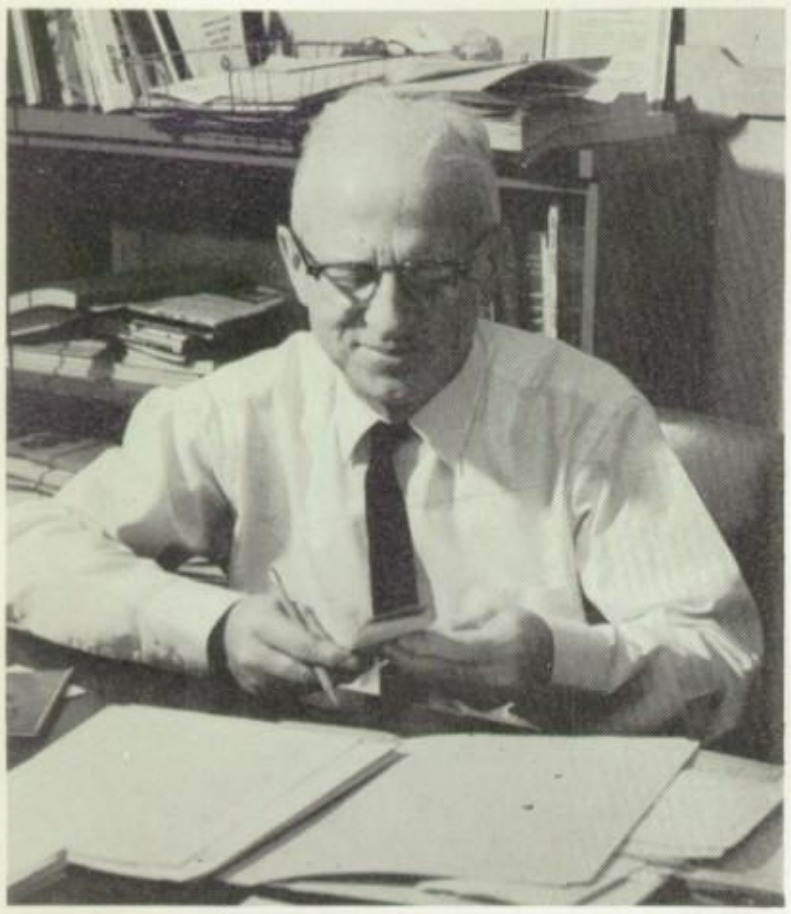
Counselor and office staffs help to



Mr. Theodore Fruehling is one of the busiest men around Hammond High School. He holds the position of Discipline Counselor and Administration Assistant.

Helping students select worthwhile courses, the counselors prepare each student for life after graduation. By maintaining a vocational file, testing students, and arranging for entrance to college, students find their counselor's assistance invaluable. Any question can be answered by the professional guidance staff composed of Mr. James Hill, department head; Mr. Homer Hightower, Freshman Counselor; Mr. Robert Brock, Sophomore Counselor; Mr. Gene Swaim, Junior Counselor; and Miss Marion Dieterich, Senior Counselor, Mr. Theodore Fruehling, Discipline Counselor and Administration Assistant, confers with students and acts on needed disciplinary problems.

keep H.H.S. running smoothly

One of Hazel's many duties include checking over each attendance slip after every class begins for absentees and then comparing this list with the homeroom absentees.

Checking attendance, answering the telephone, and compiling records is only a small portion of the work handled by main office staff of Mrs. Hazel Lindstrom, Miss Joan Pawenski, and Miss Sandy Horton. Hazel has been with Hammond High for the past thirty-eight years and her many services are invaluable. Her assistant, Joan has been here since 1952 and her main job is issuing college transcripts and completing eligibility lists. Sandy, who is an alumnus of Hammond High, types and answers the telephone.

Also an alumnus of Hammond High School is Charlene Kammer, in charge of the bookstore. She handles contracts and bills for the Sports Department, acts as club auditor, and guides all students working in the bookstore.

Mrs. Marie Gnass processes schedules of Hammond High students and handles the paper work of the counselors in the counselors' offices. She also supervises the students who work in the guidance department.

Working diligently and without complaint we find office staff members Mrs. Joan Pawenski, and Miss Sandy Horton attending to their daily activities.

Mrs. Geneva Boyd, supervisor of the Hammond High cafeteria, directs the nine adult workers and student helpers. Students assist the adult workers by carrying on such activities as cashiering, counter service and various kitchen duties.

As director of the Hammond city cafeterias, Mrs. Boyd personally manages the preparation of all school lunches. Developing new ideas for luncheon menus, filing governmental reports and seeing that school cafeterias run smoothly and efficiently is just a part of her job.

Maintenance staffs are beneficial

Hearing the sound of two bells, the custodians came to quickly make emergency repairs or straighten some unfortunate mishap. Because a neat, orderly school is essential for conducive study conditions, maintenance workers are an integral part of daily school life. Working on shifts, the custodians clean classrooms, clear the halls of debris and see that the pools are kept clean.

Performing their many duties, these men of the maintenance department take time out to pose for our DUNES photographer. Pictured are (l-r) Nachenzio Zaffore, John Newell (standing), Gregory Manan, and Belwyn Parks.

Under the direction of Mr. Edwin Burkhardt, sponsor, and Tom Mallett, captain, the eighty student monitors that serve from homeroom to seventh hour are chosen on a basis of grades and homeroom teacher recommendations. The Sophomores, Juniors and Seniors that presently compose the monitor group must carry out given duties such as collecting pink attendance slips, checking lockers, keeping halls neat, stopping students from cutting into the lunch line, seeing to it that there is no unnecessary noise or loitering in the hall, and as an added responsibility the monitors must "guard" the candy and apples machines during school hours.

Along with her administration of the bookstore, Miss Kammer also heads the switchboard, under Mr. Theodore Fruehling's supervision. Her staff includes seven girls whose job is to handle all calls that enter and leave the school building.

Academic

Possibly the most important of the reflections we shall recall are those of the academic accomplishments made of Hammond High School students during 1963-1964. These achievements stemmed from the students' strong desire to learn and the expert guidance of their many teachers.

With a wide range that includes such varied subjects as homemaking, music, foreign languages, social studies, and the sciences, student became exposed to a great many phases of education. Many of these same students singled out certain subjects from which they have excelled and are planning entire careers based upon them.

Reflecting several academic accomplishments, we find National Merit Scholars, member of both the Junior and Senior National Honor Societies, speech and debate victors, winners in musical competition and science fair award winners.

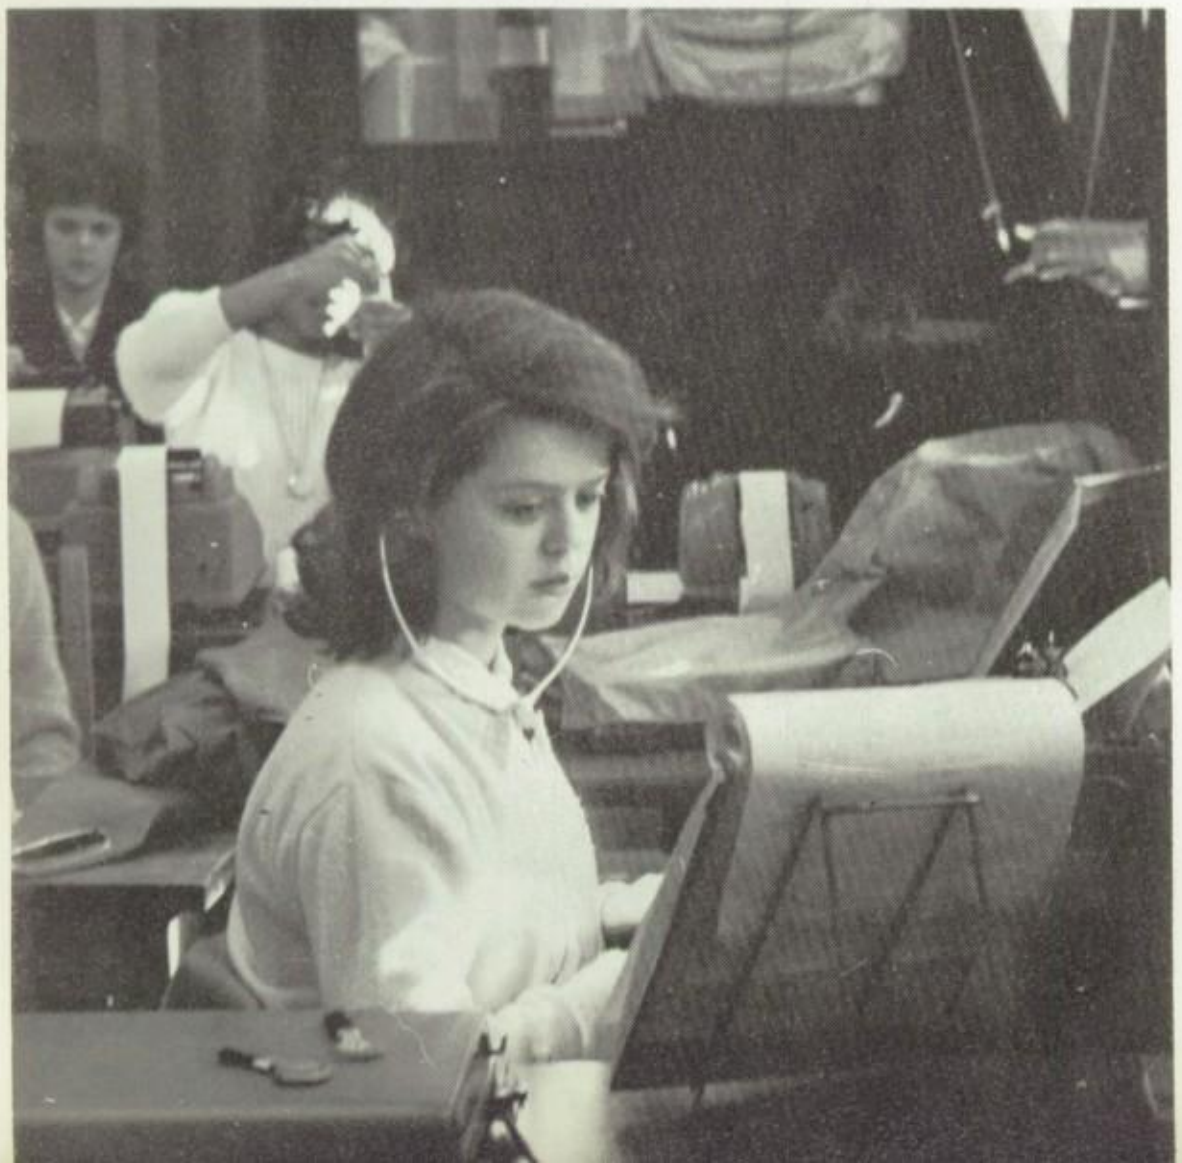
Teachers develop new teaching methods

Connie Wydra finds it easy and interesting to work with an adding machine as part of her business course.

An electric-dictaphone is only one of the modern instruments used in the business courses at Hammond High School as demonstrated by Linda Paquette.



BUSINESS DEPARTMENT

Mr. Cecil Schubert, Commercial Department Chairman at Hammond High School, thinks that a business career is most important in the lives of young people today.

The business course offered at Hammond High is a well rounded curriculum including typing, shorthand, and bookkeeping. These subjects are useful to a person throughout his entire life.

The department is constantly in search of improved methods of teaching. The "listening corner" method allows students to expand their knowledge without disturbing other classmates. Our business department also strives to obtain new machinery and instruments used in the modern business world.

to prepare students for future careers

The English Department at Hammond High School, headed by Miss Leodicia Strange, offers courses in American and World literature, advanced composition, and developmental reading as well as the basic required English courses. Hammond High has 18 well-qualified and well-trained instructors who conduct these classes.

A new method of teaching was introduced this year to Hammond High Juniors taking American literature 6. Under the name of team-teaching, Miss Carol Fisher, Miss Elizabeth Gligor and Mr. John Preston rotated leading discussions and lectures. However, all of them participated in the evaluation of students' work. This method is experimental, showing that Hammond High is trying to meet the demands for a more advanced curriculum.

Four years of English study is required for graduation from Indiana high schools. A year-end tea sponsored by the English Department honors pupil who have maintained an "A" average in the required courses and in one elective subject.

Band and orchestra entertain while

Proceeds from candy sales and Navy Band Concerts helped swell the fund for the newly acquired band uniforms this year. Aside from receiving the 100 urgently needed uniforms, the band members welcomed Mr. Robert Chesebro, the new assistant band director.

The Concert Band and Orchestra, directed by Mr. James Qualkinbush gave three festivals: fall, winter, and spring. They also took part in the State contest and the City Music Festival and made a good showing. The band played at many of the football and basketball games where they added spirit to the student body.

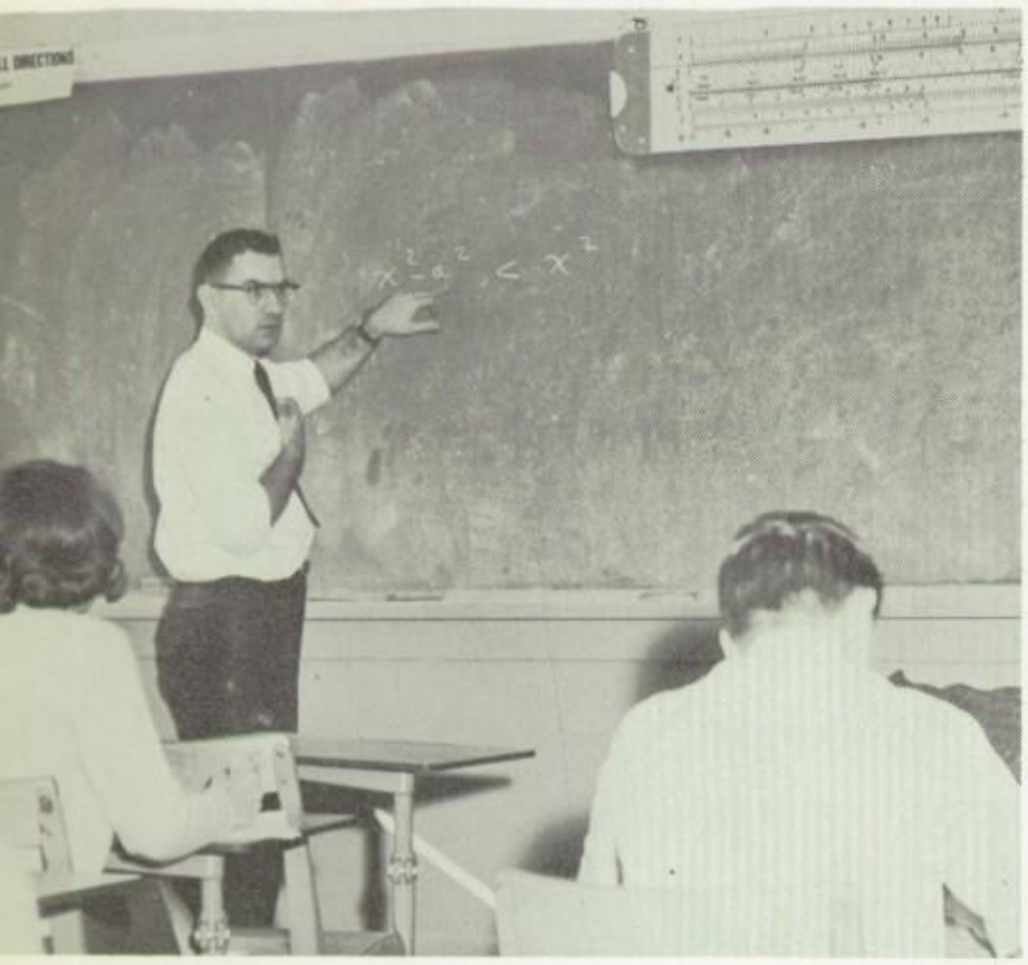
MATHEMATICS DEPARTMENT

Under the direction of Miss Thelma Abell, nine teachers of the math department participate toward advancement in the field of mathematics at Hammond High. In doing so, a new course has been added, calculus. After completing U.I.C.S.M. (University of Illinois Committee on School Mathematics) senior students are eligible to take the course, taught by Mr. Ronald Wagenblast. This is an advanced course and is a good preparatory class for college.

Miss Thelma Abel, who heads the Mathematics department at Hammond High School, is always willing to help students who have problems with their math.



Juniors watch as Mr. Ronald Wagenblast conducts his U.I.C.S.M. class using illustrations, graphs, and charts.

LANGUAGE DEPARTMENT

The foreign languages taught at Hammond High School include German, Latin, French, Spanish, and Russian. Heading the department is Miss Josephine Schubert, who makes sure that the department keeps up with the rapidly advancing ideas in teaching.

These new ideas include the use of tape recorders and records as a frequent aid in class. Discussions and speeches, which were once a rarity, are now common occurances. Another feature of Hammond High School's language courses is the use of new and progressive textbooks, along with the very recently developed language laboratory.

More and more people are discovering each day that it is ncessary to have some type of background in foreign languages in our modern world and the language teachers of Hammond High School are trying hard to give their students a firm foundation in the language arts.

An electrician makes the final adjustments in the new language laboratory.

Friday morning normally finds the Herald staff hard at work to meet their deadline. The editors discuss plans for the paper, and staff writers work to finish their stories.

Editor-in-chief, Stanford Levin, works at his typewriter in the publications office to remedy last-minute problems.

High's Herald

Hammond High's HERALD, under its new name, started its 50th year of publication with Stanford Levin as Editor-in-Chief. Twenty issues of the paper, being distributed every two weeks, were printed this year. Utilizing a plan previously inaugurated, the managing editor's position enables him to become Editor for the following year after gaining experience. Now several students are breaking in as managing editors. The staff announcements for next year were announced at the annual Quill and Scroll Banquet held in May.

Dunes staff prepares the 1964 yearbook

After a first semester of fun and frolicks, the yearbook staff finally settled down and began the task of taking and captioning pictures, writing activity copy, designing page formats, and finally proof reading and publishing the 1964 DUNES.

Editor-in-Chief, Zandra says—"Without the help of a dedicated staff, the yearbook or any other involved project could not possibly succeed. In spite of various handicaps, the production of the 1964 DUNES has been a valuable experience for the entire staff."

Scientific and social sciences

Marlee Arrowsmith and David Brown closely watch while performing an experiment in the chemistry lab.

Hammond High's Science Department, under the supervision of Mr. J. W. Wood, includes many basic and advanced courses. The fundamental courses are biology, health and safety, physics, and chemistry. For scientifically inclined students there are accelerated classes.

There are various science activities carried on throughout the year in which a large number of students participate. These students have continually won awards in the Westinghouse Talent Search for seniors, the Regional Science Fair, and the Indiana State Science Search. The department has held assemblies and sponsored two active clubs to stimulate further interest in the many fields of science.

SOCIAL STUDIES DEPARTMENT

The Social Studies Department has a new chairman this year. Miss Emily Johnson has undertaken the task of department head. Also added to the department this year as a new course is contemporary history, offered to juniors and seniors who have completed their U.S. history and have maintained a "B" average in social studies grades. The course is basicly to acquaint the students with current history of the day.

Members of Mr. Robert McLean's government class have the opportunity to enjoy various interesting speakers throughout the year as part of Hammond High School's policy.

Speech, debate, dramatics pass memorable hours

SPEECH DEPARTMENT

Members of the speech department took honors this year in extemporanous oratory, poetry, and dramatic reading. Lynda Skogan and Dave Cook did exceptionally well by earning high awards in both the regional and state levels of competition.

The topic for the debate team this year was "medicare." Violet Summers and Suzanne Pochter took the negative approach, while Jeff Davidson and Frank Kasten debated for the affirmative.

Along with speech and debate, two plays are presented each year under the direction of Miss Oza Cunningham. From these plays many students receive the most beneficial kind of practical experience in poise and public speaking.

The Vocal Music Department of Hammond High School, under the leadership of Miss Esther Waterbury (Director of the Vocal Music Department in the Hammond School system) and Mrs. Nancy Jacobs, strives to give students the opportunity to further their musical interests and talents.

Students choosing to take vocal music for the first time are placed in one of the beginning groups of either Girls' Chorus 1-2 or Boy's Chorus. After completing one of these, students may be promoted to some of the more advanced groups which include the Mixed Glee Club, Girls' Choir, and A Cappella Choir, the most selective and experienced of the classes.

Supplementing school programs are ensembles consisting of the Melodaires, the Chansonettes, Boys' Ensemble, and the Madrigal Singers, all selected from try-outs at the beginning of each school year. These groups also perform for private and civic organizations upon request.

art education

Under the direction of Miss Olga Schubkegal, the Art Department made many of the creative decorations seen in the halls of our school at various times throughout the year.

At Hammond High School, students who elect art begin their instructions with Art 1, a basic training course which teaches the fundamentals of line, form, color, texture, and space. After completing the course, those who desire to continue in art may elect Art 2 and Art Projects. While the first semester is essentially devoted to the Fall Play and Christmas decorations, the second semester centers around the Senior Class Play, Scholastic Art Awards, the International Art Program, the Poppy Poster Contest, and the Tri Kappa Home and Garden Tour.

Art students participate in many field trips each year, and see such interesting points as the Container Corporation, the Institute of Design at Illinois' Institute of Technology, and the Art Institute of Chicago. These trips enable the students to get a wider scope of art and a more intensified understanding of the many fases of art.

Tomorrow's homemakers

The Home Economics Department is headed by Miss Georgia Thiel and Mrs. Marion Halfacre. This year the Home Economics Department displayed the sewing projects of the clothing 1, 2, and 3 classes.

In Clothing 1, students learn the basic fundamentals of clothing construction and good grooming. In Clothing 2 and 3, these skills are applied in making suits and dresses for any occasion.

Foods classes, taught by Mrs. Halfacre, teach the basic arts of cooking and nutrition. There are also advanced classes offered where students study the functions of certain ingredients and do experimental cooking. The Homemaker of Tomorrow award went to Miss Connie Weiss, who won this honor by receiving the highest score in a knowledge of aptitude test given to over 100 senior girls.

President Dave Brossart feels that his main goal has been accomplished for the Association this year. His goal, shared by Vice-president Larry Dominick and Recorder Sue Jonas, was that by the end of the 1963-1964 term of office, the activities of the Association would be common knowledge to all Association members.

Through the efforts of Keith Sullivan, Secretary of Publicity, the majority of association news is printed and stressed. Other active secretaries were Lyn Wilkie, Secretary of Student Elections; Jim McKie, Secretary of Student Activities; Rich Wilcox, Secretary of Student Discipline; and Tom Mallett, Secretary of Student Safety.

Often many of the activities sponsored by the Association are taken for granted by the student public. These activities include all homecoming festivities, the planning of Association Week, the handling of all student elections, service and charity drives, and the publishing of the Hammond High Student Handbook which is given to every freshman at Orientation. Neither the Student Court nor the Monitor system could function without the backing and direction of the Association and its administration.

Athletics

The athletic image of Hammond High School has been reflected as a tough, hard, team effort supported by the students and faculty. From the crushing tackles on the football field to the physical endurance supplied by the Catfish as they swam to the conference championship title, the athletes have held the position of the Wildcats high against the best of opponents.

As a reflection depends on light, so does the team that leans on their educational background. Athletic gains are obtained by both physical abilities and mental attitude which are combined to make Hammond High School ths very best.

Championship; extend winning

After copping the 1962 State Football Title, the 1963 Wildcats proved almost as powerful as their predecessors. Displaying a potent and versatile offense and a staunch defense, the Purple extended their two-year victory string to 18 games. During this skein, the Cats won the Western Division championship and the City crown while placing 4th in the state on the final ballot.

The Wildcats dominated the Whiting Football-o-Rama, defeating E.C. Washington and Whiting at the season's outset. Continuing their winning ways, the Cats literally crushed the Hobart Brickies, 46-7. The contest featured brilliant runs by the Purple backfield. Hammond High, playing host to the Whiting Oilers, overpowered the visitors, 32-7. Hammond's gridders hurdled the E.C. Roosevelt barrier by trouncing the Rough Riders (27-7), in a grueling contest which featured tough line play, led by All-State Tackle Dave Wilhelm. Homecoming was highlighted by the 20-2 win over arch-rival Tech, which ran the Cat victory string to fourteen games. Gilroy Stadium was the scene for the next Wildcat victory, a stunning display of offensive talent. A one-sided win over Clark, in which the Cats exploded for four touchdowns in the third quarter, failed to hint what was to happen in the game against Washington the following week. All seemed to be lost when the battling Purple gained possession of the ball with 40 seconds remaining in the game, and the score being 25-20, Washington. The roaring crowd saw All-State gridders John Boyajian and Gary Love connect on two pass plays to pull the game out of the fire. Although the thriller against Washington won the Western Division championship for the Wildcats, this game seemed to show that they weren't infallable. Hammond High extended their victory string to 18 games with a 7-0 decision over Morton, despite injuries to key personnel. Hobbled by these same injuries, the Cats faced their remaining two games, one against Bishop Noll and the other against Eastern Division champ, Elkhart.

The Noll battle ended in a 7-7 deadlock which tumbled the Purple from their season-long, first-in-state rating. This moved Elkhart to the top of the state-wide poll. The hope remained that the Cats could whip the Blue Blazers and gain their second straight mythical State Title. Thousands of Hammond High fans made the journey to Elkhart to see the all-important clash. Wildcat hopes were high when Coach Bernie Krueger's team, led by Chuck Duncan, marched 92 yards for an opening touchdown. A series of bad breaks and injuries plagued the Cats through the rest of the contest, and they came out on the short end, 12-27. The loss broke the 19 game defeatless string, and wound up a fine 8-1-1 season.

Larry O'Bannon (above) breaks hoop signifying the start of Hammond High's sectional efforts. A few moments later Wildcats Larry Dominick (center), and John Boyajian (23) tensely watched the opening tossup against Griffith. The Cats fared well against the Panthers, defeating them 78-64.

Just as in the previous season, the Wildcat cagers started slowly. They lost three of their first four games, going down to defeat against South Bend Central (52-59), Lafayette Jeff (52-72), and Gary Tolleston (58-74). During this period they managed to earn a victory against the Clark Pioneers, 54-42.

After facing these difficult opening games, the Purple seemed to have their ups and downs in the next six games. They crushed Hobart, (70-58), Whiting (81-63), and Van Buren (67-41), while being overwhelmed by Michigan City (58-86), Greencastle (62-75), and Valparaiso (78-94).

The Valpo game was the turning point of the year. Coach Gunner Wyman rounded the Cats into a team that wanted to play ball, and they responded by winning seven straight games. The Wildcats downed Gary Horace Mann, the first victim of the hot streak, with a fourth quarter scoring spree, 67-57. They pulled their season record up to 6-6 while pounding hapless Gary Emerson, 85-43. Showing Calumet Area basketball fans their true ability, the Cats withstood an E.C. Roosevelt rally to whip the Rough Riders, 72-66. On the same weekend they journeyed to Terre Haute to claw Gerstmeyer, 62-60, on a last-second basket. The following weekend Gary Lew Wallace fell before the streaking cagers, 82-50. The Purple avenged their last-second 1963 Sectional loss to E.C. Washington by trouncing the Senators, 74-64. The cats followed the Washington game by outplaying a determined Tech team (78-70) to run their victory streak to seven games.

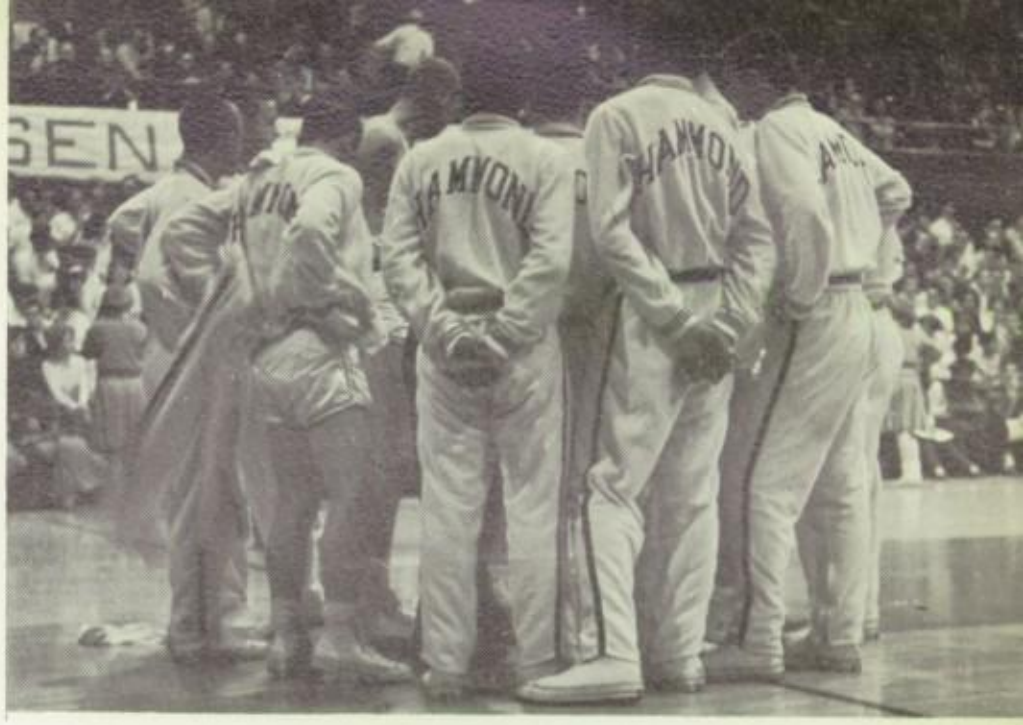
Gary Froebel's Blue Devils brought an abrupt halt to Wildcat hopes of winning the Western Division championship, 93-66. The regular season ended on a dismal note when the Cats were beaten by LaPorte (58-72), and Morton (54-58).



Coach Wyman rallies his team before the start of the second half of the E.C. Washington game. His efforts proved successful, for the Wildcats came from behind to defeat the Senators, 74-64.

Strater points toward Conference Crown

John Kouris, hard hitting third baseman, shouts words of encouragement to southpaw pitching ace Chuck Duncan before the Calumet contest. Duncan hurled three shutout innings and Kouris contributed some timely hits as the Cats charted their second victory of the season, 6-2.

A rebuilding project was in line for Coach William Strater and Assistant Coach Orlando Wyman after they led the Wildcats to the conference championship in 1963. Only two 1963 regulars were on hand this year, and the squad was left without any experienced pitcher. Despite these handicaps and the usual March-April weather, the Cats appeared ready to roll after the first month of the campaign.

With sluggers John Kouris (.616), John Boyajian (.538), Jim Gibson (.365), and Jack Kokinda (.352) providing the runs, the Wildcats were 3-2-1 at the close of April. Established as the mainstays of the pitching staff were Chuck Duncan and Larry Roames, with John Boyajian and Bill Sorrell appearing in spot performances.

In their opening contest, the Cat bats were too silent, resulting in a 7-2 loss against Griffith. The Purple downed Highland 5-2, before tying Dyer Central 5-5 in a game marred by the bad weather.

Good pitching and timely hitting sparked the Cats to a 6-2 victory over Calumet. A loss to Morton (7-9) and a "rocking chair" win against Gavit (13-1) closed out the first month of the season.

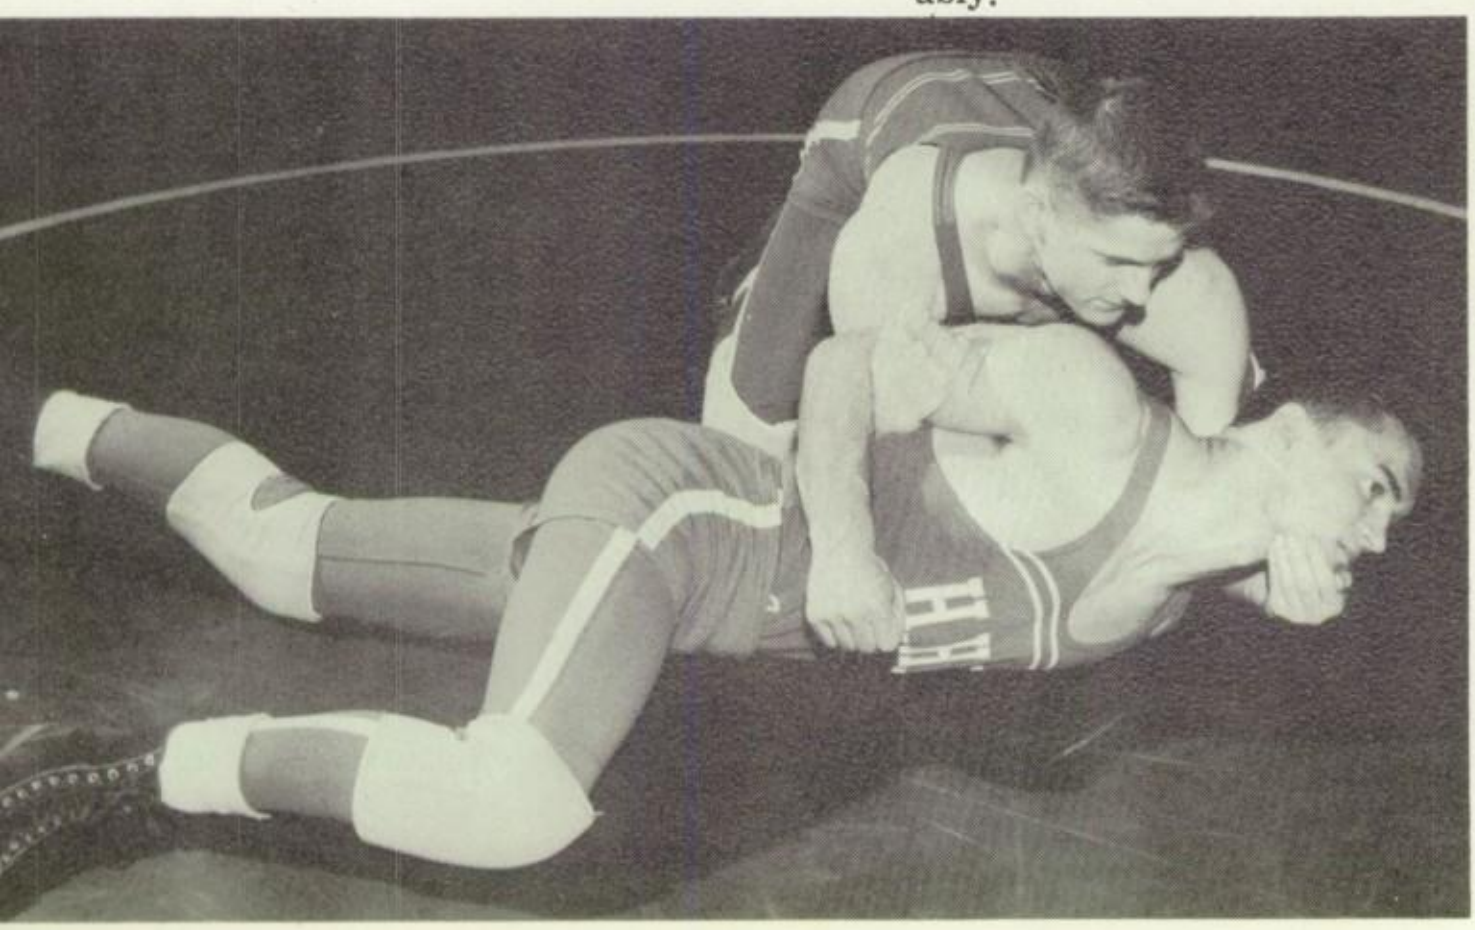
In his first season as Wrestling Coach, Mr. Karl Deak led his grapplers to a .500 season. They finished 6-6 with victories over Valparaiso, Clark, Morton, Gavit, Crown Point, and Highland.

The outstanding wrestler of the year was Dave Wilhelm, who compiled a 19-0 record and established himself as Conference and Sectional Heavyweight Champ before his injury.

The Cats wound up their campaign by placing third in the Sectional and third in the Conference. Although they failed to live up to their own expectations, the matmen, hit hard by graduation the previous year and hampered by the loss of Coach Deak for a week, performed creditably.



Dan Johnson applies an elbow hook to Ron Berg during practice. Johnson and Berg were key men on this year's wrestling team.

Robbie Scott strokes for the finish line in the 100-yard Freestyle

Stroking to a perfect 10-0 season, the Hammond High Catfish were rewarded with the Western Division Championship, first place in the Whiting Individual Meet and second in the Valparaiso Sectional.

Coach Jules Papais got his squad off to a fast start against Froebel, swamping the Blue Devils 78-15. Successive victories over La Porte, Horace Mann, Whiting, Lew Wallace and South Bend Washington followed, bringing them into a crucial meet with Valparaiso. The largest crowd of the year turned out to watch these two teams, both with perfect records, battle down to the last event.

The meet was tied 44-44, when the record setting free-style relay team of Mc Hie, Merten, Austgen and Mapes sewed up the win for the Catfish by beating the Valpo team by two body lengths.

After the Valpo meet, the Purple swimmers closed out their regular season with wins over Chesterton, Gary Andrean and Bishop Noll.

The Catfish followed up their outstanding regular season by taking top individual honors at the Whiting meet. Winners in their respective categories were Stu Gurevitz, diving; Reed Mapes, butterfly; Robbie Scott, individual medley; Dave Cook, backstroke; and the free-style relay team of Jim McHie, Rick Merten, Robbie Austgen and Mapes.

"This was our best cross team country in fifteen years," echoed the words of Coach John Wonsowitz across the Hammond High Gym. The fact that harriers compiled a 11-1 record in singular competition, won the City Crown, and placed 6th in the Hobart Invitational, 4th in the State Sectional, 6th in the N.I.H.S.C., and 10th in the State Regional, there seems to be some truth in his remarks.

Pacing the harriers were Rich Warner and Cecil Campbell with 110 and 109 points, respectively.

Ross Haller leads the field early in the City Meet. Ross helped the Cats beat Clark, Tech, and Morton, for the City Title.

Cheerleaders boost spirit

No one had better spirit or promoted it more as did Hammond High's cheerleaders. The varsity squad consisting of Judy Blockland, Jean DeBoe, Sandy Osteen, Susie Sullivan, Jeanie Taliaferro and Connie Wydra ("Willie") led the school at football and basketball games as well as during auditorium "pep sessions." With the help of the B-team, Jane Boyajian, Linda DeLaney, Linda Tomlin and Jane Vironi, they instilled upon all of us a feeling of great enthusiasm.

Sponsored by Mrs. Barbara Robbins, two girls, Sandy Osteen and Susie Sullivan, of the squad, were awarded a trophy for their outstanding service to Hammond High School as cheerleaders.

Practicing "Hammond Loyalty," in the girls gym, Hammond's cheerleaders display their enthusiasm.

"B-Team" cheerleaders led the yells at B-team games and assisted varsity cheerleaders at Pep Sessions and during the football season.

Activities

Activities and students are synonymous. When one reflects on activities, he is also reflecting on the various antics of students in classes, in the halls, at the eating places, on the field or in the bleachers. Catch a glimpse of a student strutting across the stage as he portrays some other life portrait or a girl sitting in her locker taking a fleeting glance before rushing to her Econ. class.

Activities reflect parties, dances, late rehearsals, meetings, crowded but jolly bus passengers, Proms, and walks in Maywood Park. The list is endless as are the coming and going of students to a high school. The graduates are soon forgotten as new seniors take their places.

Panel discussions, guest speakers, films, and reference material contribute to the guidance of students interested in teaching as a career. A project in which interested seniors spent four weeks observing and helping in classes of their choice within the Hammond school system promoted the student-teaching plan.

Chosen officers for the year are Sue Arcella, president; Roberta Nalezny, vice president; Edwina Zisoff, secretary; Martha Yoder, treasurer. Sponsor of the club is Mr. James Soderquist.

Helping seniors to gain information for work after high school is the main goal of the Business Occupations Club. By doing so the club does a follow-up study of business graduates.

Under the sponsorship of Mr. Donald Moretton the club brought many films and speakers to its members.

The Dramatics Club is one of the most active clubs at Hammond High School. Members of this club develop a lasting interest in an appreciation for the theater arts. Under the supervision of Miss Elizabeth Andersen, the club gives members the chance to develop skills and practice in stage craft. The club is composed of the make up crew as part of the make up staff during both of the school plays.

Along with these activities the club highlighted it's year with the presentation of a modern play for an auditorium session. Short skits are being given at club meetings and the group manages to attend many plays, both professional and amateur.

Officers of the dramatics club this year have been Jim Huelett, president; Dave Barton, vice president; Shirley Opasick, secretary; and Susan Harris, treasury.

Just a few of the jobs of the stage crew are operating the public address system, setting up the stage, and adjusting and controlling lights for the school programs.

In the auditorium seventh period the service group meets to prepare for coming performances. These boys are under the guidance of Miss Oza Cunningham, who is responsible for the testing and training of these stage hands.

speaking forms clubs

Speech Arts members explored the fields of extemporaneous speaking, original oratory, poetry reading and dramatic and humorous interpretation this past year. Many earned membership in the National Forensic League by entering and placing in contests. Even those who did not choose to enter the field of competitive speaking found an aim in Speech Arts—improving their daily speaking habits. Members showed their skills in the assembly program which the club presented.

Officers of the Speech Arts Club this year were David Cook, president; Carol Braden, vice president; Lynda Skogan, secretary; and Janis Wood, treasurer.

David Cook appears in the assembly given by the Speech Arts Club. He and other members demonstrated some of the varied areas of speaking which are studied.

Members also compiled several colored slide programs, composed of some of their most outstanding slides.

The officers of the club include Dave Brusch, president, Lowell Knauss, vice president, and Dave Mueller, treasurer.

CHESS CLUB

The Chess Club is designed to bring out mental tactfullness through the highly challenging game of chess. Members play each other according to ability, although they also have tournaments. The object of the games is to see which member can compile the greatest amount of points throughout the year.

Chess Club is sponsored by Mr. John Preston, and the officers include Max Davis, Paul Logsdon, and Tom Mallett.

Youth spreads high standards of Christian character throughout the school and community. This task is performed by the Y-Teens of Hammond High.

This year officers consist of Joan Rattay, President; Christine Bednarski, vice-president; Marty Pearson, secretary; Brenda Riddle, treasurer.

Sponsored by Mr. Dennis Burdock and Mrs. Ermina Donham the Junior Red Cross has an enrollment of 22 members. The main project of the J.R.C. this year was a gift chest sent overseas. Members of the club wrote letters to students in Korea where the chest was sent last year.

Various methods of enrollment were discussed and compiled into a paper and then handed into the city Red Cross.

This year's officers are Roberta Hewitt; Gary Stanford; vice-president; Valerie Skinner, secretary; Elinor Goss, treasurer.

As the name implies this group is the movie and slide boys who faithfully stop into Room 118A to check their assignments, get out the equipment and roll off down the hall, and race up the stairs to various rooms to project pictures for eager audiences.

TOP KATS

Top Kats are all that the name implies and they have a live wire in their sponsor, Mr. Frank Carroll. If it's not a load of students called for to fill buses headed for games away, it's an SOS for hurry-up booster signs for the halls to solicit rooters for the home team on the home field or court. If any curious reader wants to know how many rabid fans make up this club, let him count the names of those who showed up for the picture.

As we look back on the past year we see many things we will long remember. While leafing through the pictures of the Senior class we recall their leadership and ability; the juniors finally became upperclassmen; the sophomores no longer freshmen and the freshman looking forward to their three challenging years of high school life to come.

As this album is read some of the reflections already are beginning to fade. In the years to come the image will become so distant it will be difficult to remember without looking again through the pages.

The Christmas program is always a highlight of the Yuletide season. Here is seen the entire music department including many Juniors.

Junior Scott Garner, as the professor, speaks with two robots, Mike Finley and Janie Rodems, sophomores, who listen attentively.

Bob Cleveland and Jinni Kovachic receive their class rings.

Sophomores had the rare opportunity to hear Charlie and his Swingin' Tunas at a soc-hop sponsored by the famous Hammond High School lettermen.

Everybody, including the sophomores, was impressed with this informative display which told the story of the Hammond High School band uniform from 1918 to 1964.

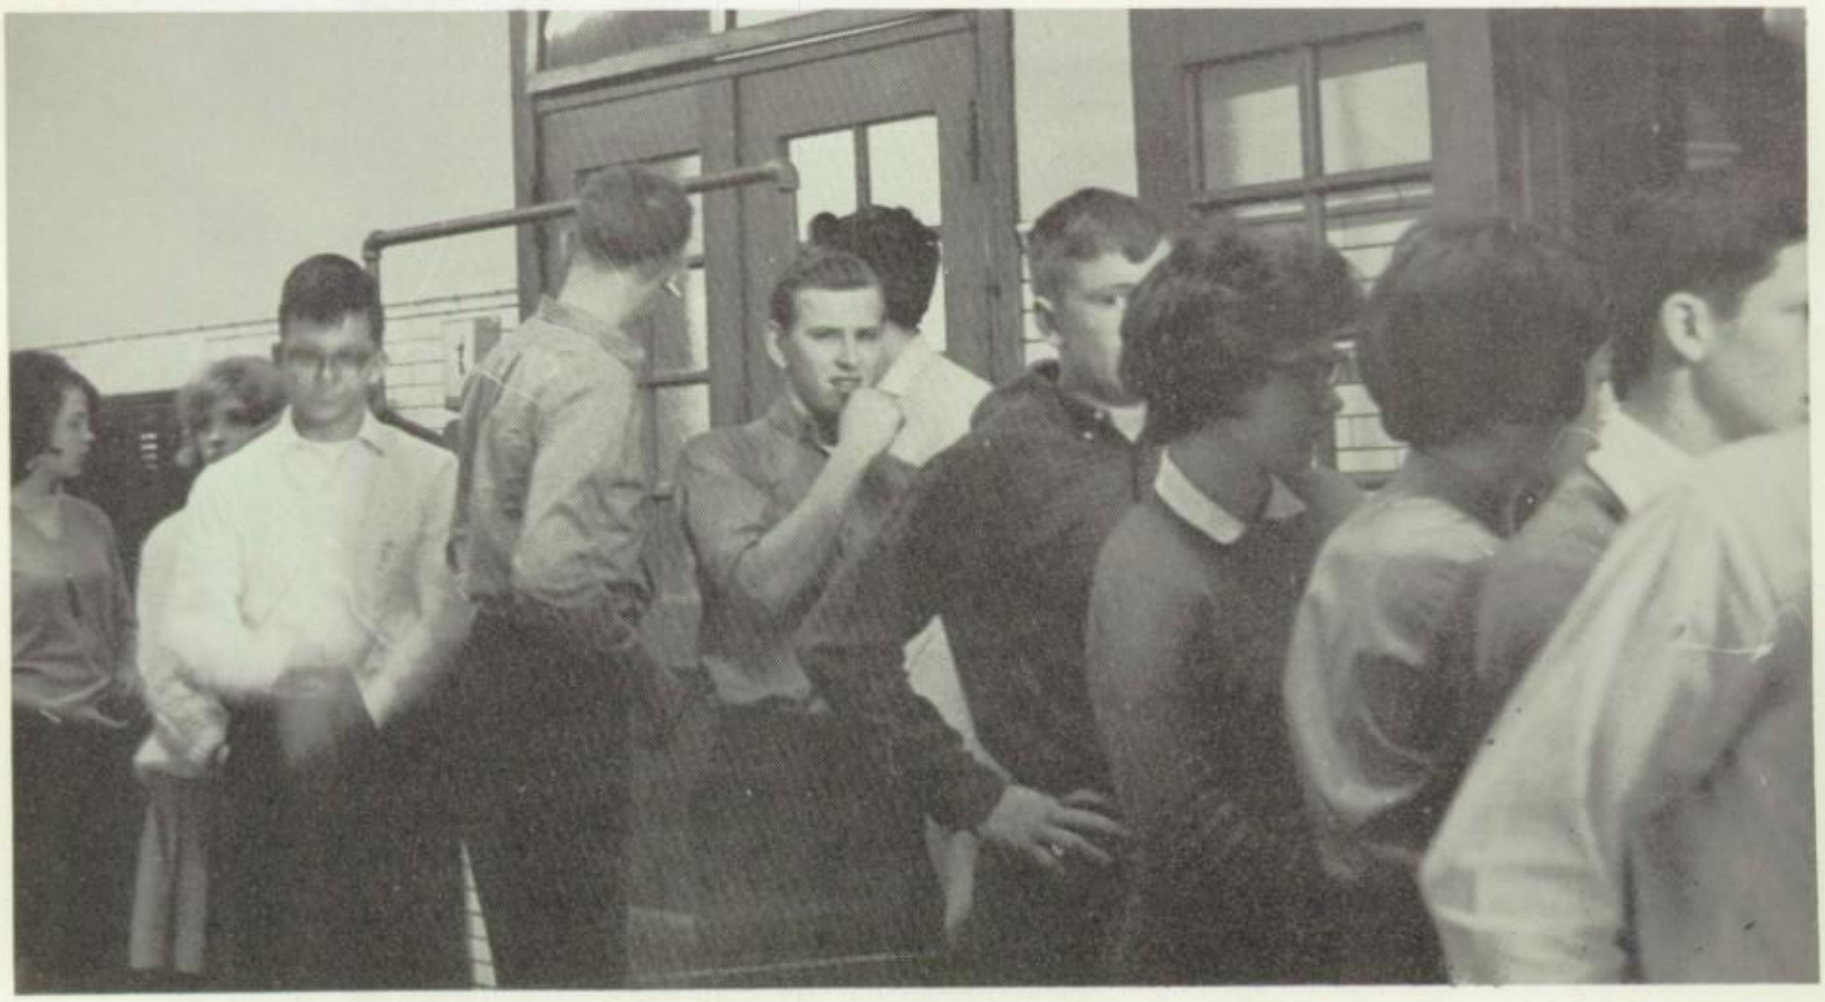
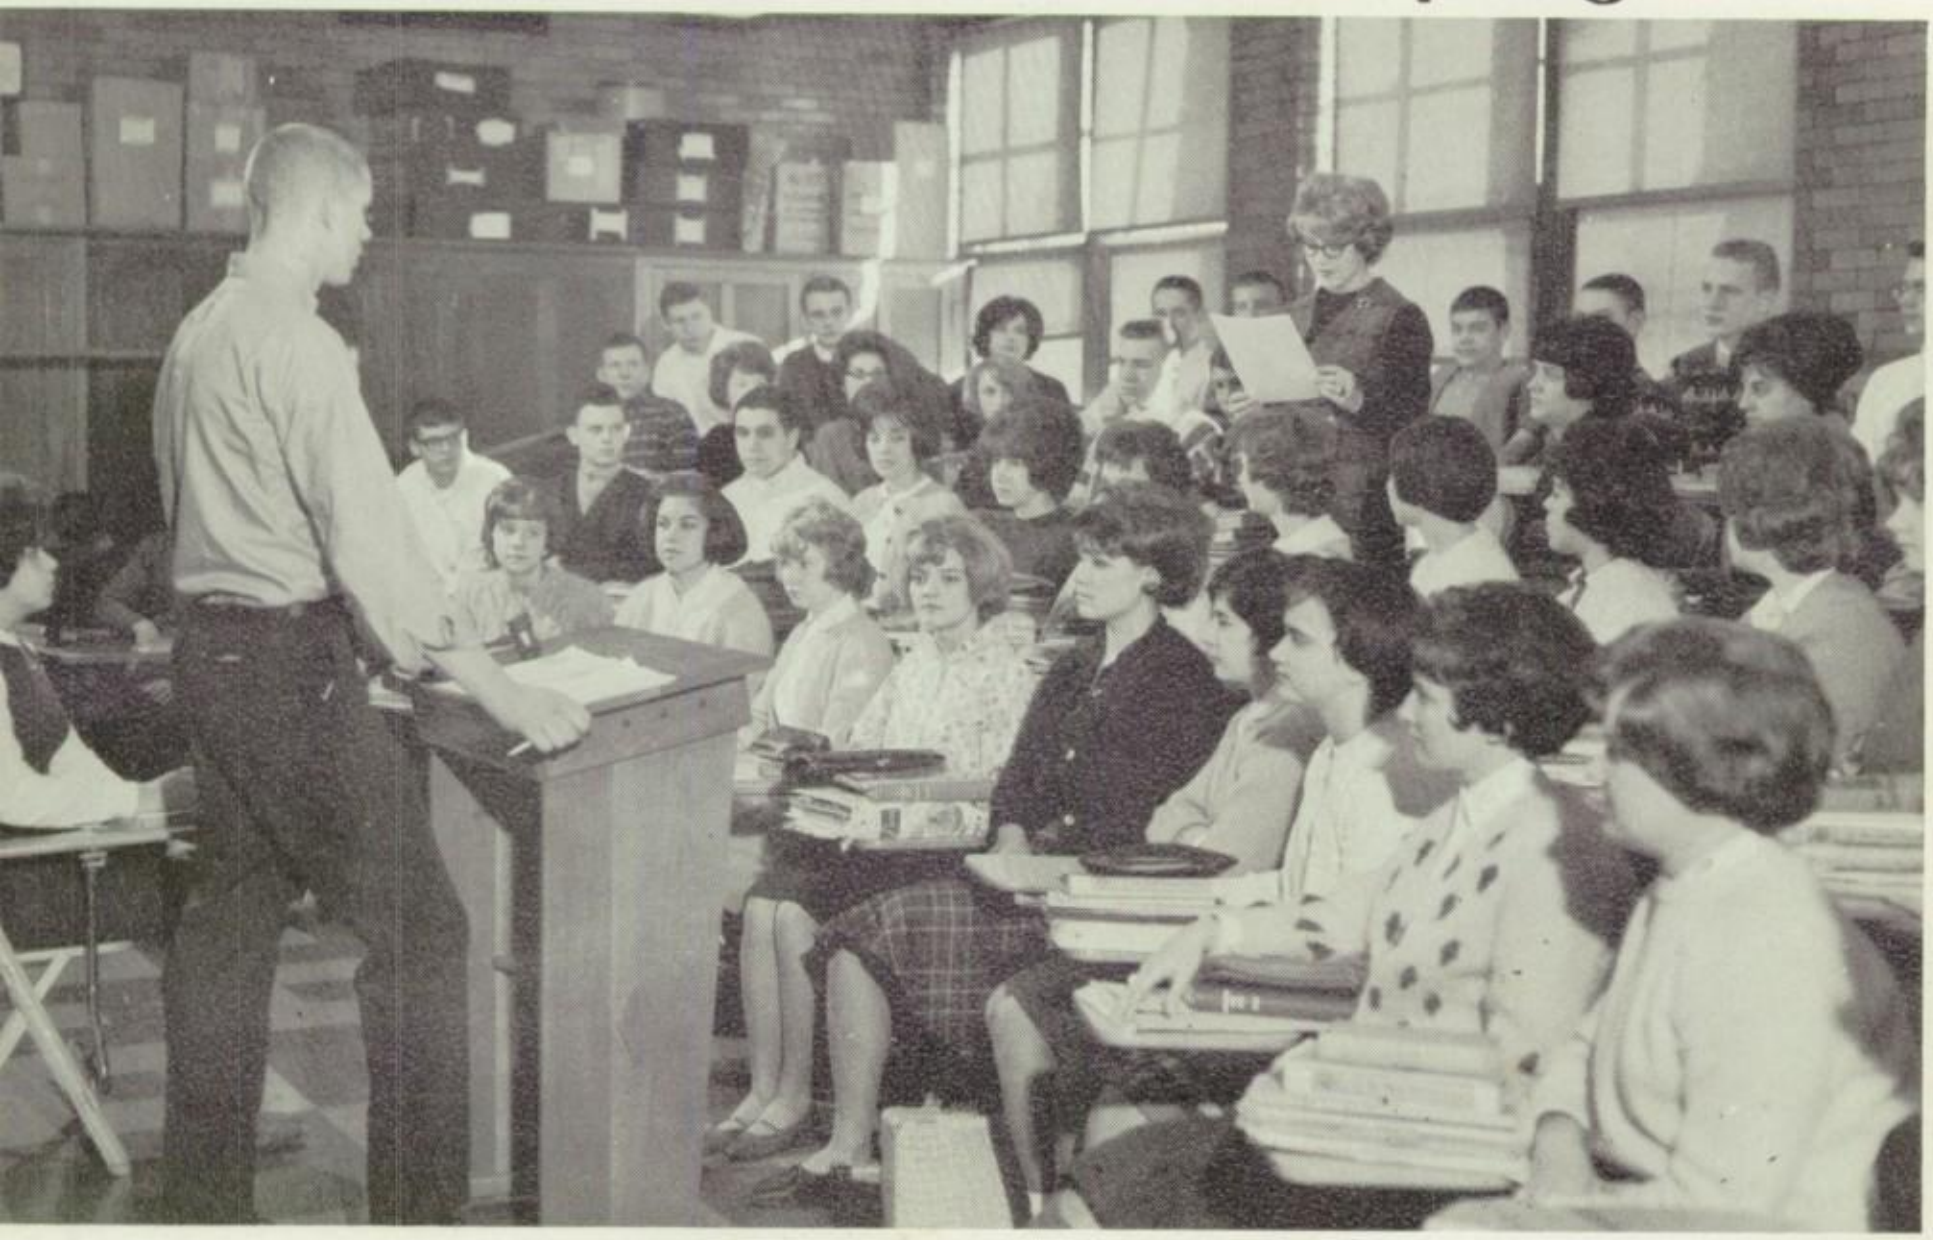
Freshmen stand in line, impatiently waiting to cast their votes for the 1965 Association Officers for the first time.



first year attending the Freshmen party



Many Freshmen get their first useful experience in government by being elected to the student House of Representatives.

These Freshmen seem confused (as Freshmen so often are) and appear to be kicking each other, rather than the soccer ball.

Freshmen become accustomed to the Hammond High tradition of signing up in the Counselor's office at their appointed time and then waiting until the end of the hour before meeting with their respective counselor.

Advertising

What better place to reflect than in the advertising pages. Those businesses which back the school through the Yearbook trust that Hammond High School students will reflect their buying habits when they make tracks to the doors of those advertising supporters who are an integral part of the school.

Area businessmen have had a part in the Dunes yearbook for countless years and the students at Hammond High School look upon them not only as boosters for the Purple and White, but almost as "guest teachers" who endeavor to build in the young generation selective buying habits.

Our Congratulations to the Members of the Senior Class

WHAT IS YOUR FUTURE?

As a member of the Senior Class, very soon you will be making a decision regarding a big step into the future. Perhaps your decision will be to go on for further education. Or it may be, you will be looking for the job of your choice. In either event, this decision will affect and shape your future life in many ways.

Regardless of what you decide, we hope that the Inland Steel Company will be a part of your future. Many graduates are currently involved in successful careers here at the Harbor Works as part of the nation's basic steel industry.

Steel mill work today is highly complex, involving automated production lines which require people who can be trained in skilled jobs. Most of the jobs are involved directly in the steelmaking process while others are available in the laboratories or in various departmental offices. Regardless of your interests, excellent opportunities exist with Inland Steel.

In addition to excellent paying jobs and an outstanding benefit program, Inland offers a variety of on-the-job training programs plus the Purdue-Inland Program. This Program, offered to a full time employee, provides training in the areas of steelmaking, mechanics, and electricity.

Plan now to investigate the many opportunities for your future with Inland Steel Company.
